SEARCH

Inspection of representation of Trade Marks may, on payment of the prescribed fees, made at the Trade Marks Registry, between 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Monday to Thursday (Except Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.).

APPLICATION NUMBERS

In each advertisement the number stated before the specification of goods indicates the number of the application.

OPPOSITION

Notice is hereby given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the marks advertised herein according to classes under the heading "Application Advertised before Registration" may, within two months from the date of this Journal, lodge Notice of Opposition on Form T.M-5 accompanied by the prescribed fee of Rs.6,000/-.

The period for lodging Notice of Opposition may be extended by the Registrar if he thinks so and upon such terms as he may direct.

Request for extension of time shall always bear the reference the name of prospective opponent and the number of Trade Marks, if any, to be made basis of opposition.

It is desirable that formal opposition should not be lodged until notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration, so as to afford him an opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the Notice of Opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice may be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order of costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicants.

NOTIFICATION

It is notified for general information that Form TM-1, must be completed in all respects and informations asked for must be provided. Instructions for Completions of TM-1, given on this form in the Rules should be followed. The instruction at (f) and (g) relating to user and signature are clear and noncompliance leads to over work for the Trade Marks Registry and un-necessary delay for the Applicants. Incomplete forms will not be received, and if received by POST will not be examined at their turn, till they are complete in all respects.

EXTENSION OF TIME

2. It has been observed that in opposition and Rectification cases, both the parties or their Agents/Advocates make requests on Form TM-56 for Extension of time, which are liberally granted to the parties. This practice not only delays the disposal of cases, but also results in accumulation of work. In order to discourage this practice, it is notified for general information that no unnecessary extension of time will be allowed except substantiated by cogent and convincing reasons and that mere collection of data or compilation of paper would not be sufficient reasons for asking such extension. All concerned should note and cooperate for early disposal of contested cases. Besides requests for extension of time in opposition cases must be accompanied by valid power of authorization, without which such requests are liable to be treated as un-authorized.

AUTHENTICATION OF FOREIGN DOCUMENTS AND POWER OF ATTORNEY.

3. It is notified for general information that all Foreign Documents and the Power of Attorneys shall be executed before, and authenticated by a Notary Public, or any Court, Judge, Magistrate, Consul or Vice Consul, or Representation of the Central Government as enumerated in Section 85 of the Evidence Act.

13. Before proceeding further, there is one aspect arising out of the present proceedings that I must address and highlight even though it was not, strictly speaking, referred to by learned counsel for the parties. However, it does have a bearing on the outcome of the present applications and is even otherwise a matter of importance and general application. It will be recalled that application No. 238904 for "Bol" as IMC's proposed trademark was advertised in the July, 2013 issue (No. 750) of the Trade Marks Journal, which was published on 26.08.2013. The relevant extract from the Journal was placed on the record by IMC. I noted that the application was, as stated in the extract, being "advertised before acceptance under section 28(1) Ordinance 2001". The various issues of the Journal are available online at the website of the IPO from July 1996 onwards. I have taken the trouble of going through the issues for 2014 (January to November as currently available) and have sampled a number of issues from previous years. It appears that in the overwhelming number of cases the applications are advertised before acceptance. This appears also to have been situation under the predecessor legislation, the Trade Marks Act, 1940 ("1940 Act"). The question of when and how advertisement of an application is permissible before its acceptance is a matter of importance, which requires close attention.

- 14. Sections 27 and 28 of the 2001 Ordinance, as presently relevant, are as follows:
 - 27. Examination of application. (1) The Registrar shall, as soon as practicable, examine whether an application for registration of a trade mark satisfies the requirements prescribed under this Ordinance.
 - (2) For the purposes of sub-section (1), the Registrar shall carry out a search, to the extent as he considers necessary, of earlier trade marks.
 - (3) If it appears to the Registrar that the requirements for registration are not met, he shall inform the applicant and give him an opportunity, within such period as the Registrar may specify, to make representation or to amend the application.
 - (4) If the applicant fails to satisfy the Registrar that those requirements are met, or to amend the application so as to met them, or fails to respond before the end of the specified period, the Registrar shall refuse to accept the application.
 - (5) If it appears to the Registrar that the requirements for registration are met, he shall accept the application absolutely or subject to such conditions or limitations, if any, as he may think fit.
 - (6) In the case of a refusal or conditional acceptance, the Registrar shall state in writing the grounds of his decision and the materials used by him in arriving thereat.
 - (7) If the tribunal is of opinion that it is fair and reasonable in all the circumstances of the case to do so, may at any time, whether before or after acceptance correct any error in, or in connection with, the application or may permit the applicant to amend his application upon such terms as it may think fit;

Provided that no amendment or correction shall be permitted in the application which substantially affects the identity of the trade mar or extends the goods or services covered by the application;

Provided further that if the amendment or correction in the application is permitted after the application has been advertised, the amendment or correction shall also be published.

28. Publication, opposition proceedings and observations—(1) When an application for registration of a trade mark has been accepted, whether absolutely or subject to conditions or limitations, the Register shall, as soon as may be after acceptance, cause the application as accepted together with the conditions and limitations, if any, subject to which it has been accepted, to be advertised in the Journal, and for all legal purposes, advertisement of the trade mark in the Journal shall constitute sufficient notice of acceptance of the trade mark;

Provided that the Registrar may cause an application to be advertised before acceptance where it appears to him that it is expedient by reason of any exceptional circumstances so to do, and where an application has been so advertised the Registrar may, if he thinks fit advertise it again when it has been accepted, but shall not be bound so to do;

Provided further that where an application is advertised by reason of any special circumstances under the above proviso, the Registrar shall simultaneously notify the exceptional circumstances which led him so to do.

(2) Any person may, within two months from the date of the advertisement or re-advertisement of an application for registration or within such further period not exceeding two months in the aggregate, as the Registrar, on application made to him in the prescribed manner and on payment of the prescribed fee, may allow, give notice to the Registrar of opposition to the registration: ...

As will be readily appreciated, the Registrar's duty to examine an application for registration of a mark is one of his most important statutory functions. This exercise, mandated by law, is of an imperative nature and must be carried out. The Registrar (which of course, includes such officers of the Trade Marks Registry as are authorized in accordance with law) cannot, and cannot be allowed to, abdicate this statutory responsibility. Briefly put, what section 27 requires is that if, after examination of the application and the required search, the Registrar is of the view that there are any objections to the application, he must notify the applicant and give him an opportunity to either satisfy the Registrar that the application is, in fact and law, compliant with statutory requirements or to amend it suitably to bring it in line with what is required and permissible. If either of these eventualities is not met, then the Registrar must refuse to accept the application. Even if he accepts it he may do so absolutely or subject to such conditions as he may impose. In case of refusal or conditional acceptance, the Registrar must make an order that is compliant with subsection (6) (and such other legal requirements as may apply).

- 16. Once the foregoing exercise has been completed and culminates in acceptance (either absolute or conditional), then section 28(1) requires that the application be advertised in the Journal in the prescribed manner. To this subsection there are two provisos relating to advertisement before acceptance. In order to examine them properly it is relevant also to consider section 15(1) of the 1940 Act, which was as follows:
 - 15. Opposition to registration—(1) When an application far registration of a trade mark has been accepted, whether absolutely or subject to conditions or limitations, the Registrar shall, as soon as may be after acceptance, cause the application as accepted, together with the conditions and limitations, if any, subject to which it has been accepted, to be advertised in the prescribed manner:

Provided that the Registrar may cause an application to be advertised before acceptance if it relates to a trade mark to which clause (e) of sub-section (1) of section 6 applies, or in any other case where it appears to him that it is expedient by reason of any exceptional circumstances so to do, and where an application has been so advertised the Registrar may, if he thinks fit, advertise it again when it has been accepted, but shall not be bound so to do.

It will be seen that this provision was similar to section 28(1). (Section 14 of the previous Act was similar to the present section 27.) There are however two important differences. Firstly, the proviso to section 15(1) comprised of two parts. It could be invoked either (a) in respect of a mark to which section 6(1)(e) of the 1940 Act applied or (b) in any other case where "exceptional circumstances" were found to exist. The first proviso to section 28(1) only applies if "exceptional circumstances" exist and not otherwise. Secondly, the second proviso to section 28(1) is new: it had no equivalent in the 1940 Act. Now, section 6 of the 1940 Act provided for the distinctiveness that was required of a mark for it to be registered. Subsection (1) provided that a mark would not be registered unless it consisted of any one of the "essential particulars" as stated in clauses (a) to (e) thereof. These included, in the first four clauses, various specific particulars (such as the applicant's name, signature, an invented word, etc.). Clause (e) then provided that the required essential particular could be "any other distinctive mark". Thus, if the proposed mark sought to be registered consisted of "any other distinctive mark", the proviso to section 15(1) made it permissible for the application to be advertised before acceptance. It is important to note that for this purpose "exceptional circumstances" did not need to exist; it was sufficient if the proposed mark came within the meaning of section 6(1)(e). If however the case did not come within the scope of the foregoing ("any other case"), then the proviso only applied if "exceptional circumstances" existed.

17. Now it could be (although I record no definite finding in this regard) that under the 1940 Act a practice may have arisen that in respect of all applications in which section 6(1)(e) applied to the mark sought to be registered, the Registrar routinely allowed the application to be advertised before acceptance. This may explain why, under the previous statutory regime, such a large number of applications were apparently so advertised in the Journal. And it may also be that once the 2001 Ordinance came into effect, this practice has continued, essentially as a holdover from what was happening previously. However, if so (and even otherwise), in my view such a practice and the routine application of the first proviso under section 28(1) is clearly contrary to law. This is so because the first proviso can apply if, and only if, "exceptional circumstances" are shown to exist and not otherwise. This requirement applies to all cases and there is no separate category as was to be found in the proviso to section 15(1). Now, "exceptional circumstances" are precisely that: circumstances of such a rare or unusual nature as would warrant departure from the main rule, namely that an application is only to be advertised if accepted (whether absolutely or conditionally). Quite obviously, a provision that can only be applied in exceptional circumstances cannot become a matter of routine, and a power so granted cannot be exercised more or less automatically. Such a practice, in the context of section 28(1), would effectively eliminate the words "exceptional circumstances" from the statute. In other words, it cannot lawfully become the practice for applicants to invoke the first proviso, and for the Registrar to purport to exercise the power thereby conferred in a routine manner. The law has been materially altered from the previous regime, and the scope of the proviso significantly narrowed and tightened. Its routine application is unlawful. This however, appears to be precisely how the Registrar has continued to apply the first proviso. In my view, this is a serious illegality and material breach of the law. It cannot be countenanced and allowed to continue.

- I turn to the second proviso to section 28(1). As noted, this is new. 18. Two points may be made. Firstly, the second proviso is mandatory: this is clear from the use of "shall". Secondly, the manner in which the Registrar is to "simultaneously notify" the "exceptional circumstances" which led him to allow advertisement before acceptance can only be for such circumstances to be stated in the advertisement itself. While this follows ineluctably from the language of the second proviso, the point is expressly made in Rule 29 of the Trade Mark Rules, 2004. Sub-rule (1) lists the particulars that must go in the advertisement and clause (i) thereof requires that the "details of special circumstances, if any, under the proviso to sub-section (1) of section 28" must be given. (The "should" used in sub-rule (1) obviously applies in the mandatory and not optional sense.) In my examination of the Journal I specifically looked for an application advertised under the first proviso in which, in compliance of the second proviso, the special circumstances had been stated. I could not find a single example. It appears to be me, therefore, that applications are being advertised in flagrant breach of the law. Firstly, the first proviso is being invoked and applied in a more or less routine manner and as a matter of practice. Secondly, even if there were cases in which "exceptional circumstances" did exist the second proviso is being violated inasmuch as such circumstances are not being disclosed in the application as advertised. (Of course, it will be appreciated that the failure to comply with the second proviso makes it impossible to determine whether there were any such circumstances at all in respect of any application to which the first proviso validly applied.)
 - 19. Clearly, these illegalities must be brought, and come, to an end. By routinely invoking the first proviso to section 28(1) the Registrar has, in effect, abdicated due and proper discharge and performance of one of his most important statutory duties, the examination of the application under section 27 and the making of an appropriate order thereon and taking action in respect thereof as contemplated by law. I therefore direct and hold as follows. In any case where the applicant wishes to invoke the first proviso he must make an appropriate application setting out therein (in sequentially numbered grounds/paragraphs) the "exceptional circumstances" which exist in his case as would warrant advertisement of the application before acceptance. The Registrar must apply his mind to such application and make a proper order identifying each circumstance (if more than one is invoked) that, in his view, is an exceptional circumstance within the meaning of the first proviso. Only then can permission be granted for advertisement before acceptance. And if such permission is granted, the circumstance(s) on the basis of which the applicant has successfully invoked the first proviso must be set out in the advertisement, as required by the second proviso read with Rule 29. Any person opposing any such application shall be entitled to take objection also to the "special circumstances" disclosed in the advertised application. In considering such opposition, the Registrar must apply his mind also to such objection and if he is of the view that the other grounds for opposition are without merit, but the objection to the advertisement before acceptance nonetheless has merit (i.e., that there were no special circumstances) he must then further apply his mind and make a specific order whether the application is to be re-advertised or not. The Registrar is directed that in every issue of the Journal that is now to be published, starting from the date on or after 15 days from this Order, no application is to be advertised before acceptance in respect of which the foregoing procedure has not been followed. The Registrar and all officers of the Registry are warned that if it is subsequently brought to the attention of the Court in any manner (and in any proceedings) that there has been any breach of the directions herein given, strict action shall be taken under law against all delinquent officers and also any applicant who is found to have violated the law.
